

FRESH OUTBREAKS OF INFLUENZA IN PENNSYLVANIA REPORTED

(By Associated Press.)

Harrisburg, Nov. 20—The state department of health today announced that "numerous flare ups" of influenza have been heard of during the last two days and that an increased number of deaths are reported from the cities of Erie, Johnstown, Newcastle, Uniontown, Wilkes-Barre and Allentown.

The boards of health of Johnstown, Uniontown and Wilkes-Barre have already taken steps to re-establish the closing order and it is said that on account of increased numbers of influenza cases in the coal region in Cambria county the fuel administration has ordered all saloons closed in a chain of towns extending from Galitzin to Portage.

The total number of deaths from influenza and pneumonia for a twenty-four hour period up to noon yesterday was 539, bringing the total number of deaths since October 1 thruout the state to 42,635.
