

FIVE PRISON INMATES

ILL WITH INFLUENZA

Despite the best of care influenza broke out among the seventy-two prisoners in the Lehigh county jail last week and at noon Friday five of the inmates were sick abed with the disease. Two of the confined men were stricken early in the morning. The other three were taken ill while at work. None are serious. Drs. Forrest Schaefer and Thomas Weaver are in attendance.

So that there will be no spread of the disease, Warden Garman had the five sick men removed to the third tier on the south side of the jail. All the other prisoners were taken to cells on the north side, isolating those afflicted.

Until further notice the prison is under quarantine and visitors will not be permitted nor will the prisoners be allowed to mingle freely with each other. The usual Sunday church services have been suspended until the prison is entirely free of the disease.
