

NO FLU NOW IN COUNTY

THERE HAVE BEEN THREE DEATHS, ALL OUTSIDE OF CITY

Rigid Quarantine Continues With State at Large Still in Grip of the Dread Disease. Remarkable Record for Gunnison.

Altho there are some signs of the ban being lifted in Gunnison, Dr. Rockefeller, physician in charge, declares that it all depends upon conditions outside of the city. There is not a case of the Flu in Gunnison or the surrounding country so far as we know. However, it is raging very badly at Cimarron and other places. The crest of the second wave has hardly been reached in Denver and Pueblo. In fact, we cannot look for "business as usual" until the situation develops further. The Pueblo Chieftain says in its issue of yesterday:

Was Real Quarantine

President John J. Tobin of the district war board, who is just now at his home at Montrose, has written to a local friend that when his train approached the railway station at Gunnison, the conductor entered the coach in which he and many others were riding, and announced that any person who alighted from the train, and even stepped on the platform, there would be escorted by an officer to quarantine and there kept until it was made sure there was no influenza germs hanging around, and that the usual method for this procedure was five days.

"That's real quarantine, and the statement is made by officials of Gunnison," says Mr. Tobin, "that there is not and never has been a case in Gunnison."
