

Papers of Mayor James Rolph

Used with permission.

From the collections of the California Historical Society, San Francisco, CA

Documents can only be used for educational and research purposes. If used for commercial purposes, please contact the above institution.

This is a copy from the original manuscript held by the California Historical Society, 1115 S. Francisco. It may be used for reference only, and no permission is here given for duplication in whole or in part.

November 14, 1918. 16-10

H. Wittkopp, Ph. M. - 3,
United States Navy,
On Duty, San Francisco Hospital.

My dear Friend:

You and your associates in the United States Navy Hospital Units that have been serving at the San Francisco Hospital during the "Spanish Influenza" epidemic you have just helped to end, have rendered a noble service to this City for which all San Franciscans will ever be grateful. Your devotion to your work, your never failing sympathy for those who lay sick or dying in your charge, have earned San Francisco's thanks and her affectionate regard, which I, as Mayor, take pleasure in expressing to you.

The City is especially grateful to you, owing to the fact that you were in charge of a number of men who helped at the San Francisco Hospital in the fight against influenza, handling your command with admirable efficiency.

With sincere appreciation,

Mayor.

16-10
November 14, 1918.

J. A. Mahurin, Ph. M. - 3,
United States Navy,
On Duty, San Francisco Hospital.

My dear Friend:

You and your associates in the United States Navy Hospital Units that have been serving at the San Francisco Hospital during the "Spanish Influenza" epidemic you have just helped to end, have rendered a noble service to this City for which all San Franciscans will ever be grateful. Your devotion to your work, your never failing sympathy for those who lay sick or dying in your charge, have earned San Francisco's thanks and her affectionate regard, which I, as Mayor, take pleasure in expressing to you.

The City is especially grateful to you, owing to the fact that you were in charge of a number of men who helped at the San Francisco Hospital in the fight against influenza, handling your men with admirable efficiency.

With sincere appreciation,

Mayor.

This is a copy from the original manuscript held in the California Historical Society Library, San Francisco. It may be used for reference only, and no permission is here given for duplication in whole or in part.

November 14, 1918.

16-10

J. D. Wilkie, Ph. M. - 3,
United States Navy,
On Duty, San Francisco Hospital.

My dear Friend:

You and your associates in the United States Navy Hospital Units that have been serving at the San Francisco Hospital during the "Spanish Influenza" epidemic you have just helped to end, have rendered a noble service to this City for which all San Franciscans will ever be grateful. Your devotion to your work, your never failing sympathy for those who lay sick or dying in your charge, have earned San Francisco's thanks and her affectionate regard, which I, as Mayor, take pleasure in expressing to you.

The City is especially grateful to you, owing to the fact that you were in charge of a number of men who helped at the San Francisco Hospital in the fight against influenza, handling your men with admirable efficiency.

With sincere appreciation,

Mayor.

This is a copy from the original manuscript held in the California Historical Society Library, San Francisco. It may be used for reference only, and no permission is here given for duplication in whole or in part.

(COPY)

16-10

November 14, 1918.

H. Wittkopp, Ph. M. - 3,
United States Navy,
On Duty, San Francisco Hospital.

My dear Friend:

You and your associates in the United States Navy Hospital Units that have been serving at the San Francisco Hospital during the "Spanish Influenza" epidemic you have just helped to end, have rendered a noble service to this City for which all San Franciscans will ever be grateful. Your devotion to your work, your never failing sympathy for those who lay sick or dying in your charge, have earned San Francisco's thanks and her affectionate regard, which I, as Mayor, take pleasure in expressing to you.

The City is especially grateful to you, owing to the fact that you were in charge of a number of men who helped at the San Francisco Hospital in the fight against influenza, handling your command with admirable efficiency.

With sincere appreciation,

Mayor.

This is a copy from the original manuscript held in the California Historical Society Library, San Francisco. It may be used for reference only, and no permission is here given for duplication in whole or in part.

(COPY)

16-10

November 14, 1918.

J. D. Ball, H. A. - 1,
United States Navy,
On Duty, San Francisco Hospital.

My dear Friend:

You and your associates in the United States Navy Hospital Units that have been serving at the San Francisco Hospital during the "Spanish Influenza" epidemic you have just helped to end, have rendered a noble service to this City for which all San Franciscans will ever be grateful. Your devotion to your work, your ready response to every call for help, your never failing sympathy for those who lay sick or dying in your charge, have earned San Francisco's thanks and her affectionate regard, which I, as Mayor, take pleasure in expressing to you.

With sincere appreciation,

Mayor.

This is a copy from the original manuscript held in the California Historical Society Library, San Francisco. It may be used for reference only, and no permission is here given for duplication in whole or in part.