

"EXAMINER'S" NEWS PICTURES FROM S. F. AND WAR FRONTS

Red Cross ambulance workers who are aiding greatly in checking the spread of influenza in San Francisco. On the left is Mrs. Helen Garrett, Miss Helen Son, Miss Aileen Treat and Miss Marjorie Levin, beside the Red Cross motor ambulance. In the photo on the right are Miss Marjorie Levin (left) and Miss Helen St. Goar handling packages of "flu masks," which are to be distributed among the public.

Copyright by International Film Service

(Left) Mrs. James Rolph Jr. and her daughter, Miss Annette Rolph, aiding the Red Cross by making influenza masks. (Right) Assembly in the auditorium of Girls' High School, where about 750 teachers met in order to lend their services in the war being waged to check the influenza epidemic. All wore masks, as well as the speakers.