

COLORADO SCHOOLS CLOSED.

Rigid Measures Taken to Stop Spread of Influenza.

Denver.—Eleven additional deaths making a total of thirty deaths from Spanish influenza, were reported Monday to Dr. William H. Sharpley, manager of health, and he estimated that there were 100 new cases in the city, bringing the total number up to approximately 500. Dr. Sharpley asserted, however, that he believed the plague was under control.

Colorado State University at Boulder is closed until further notice to prevent the further spread of influenza among the students. The State School of Mines will be under the strictest quarantine and limited academic instruction will be continued under the most rigid rules. The Agricultural college at Fort Collins will have its 650 students under close health surveillance and is cooperating fully with the local and state health authorities to prevent influenza from spreading.

Governor Gunter issued a proclamation urging health officers to adopt measures to prevent the spread of influenza, and many cities have already taken such action.

Colorado Soldier Dies in Camp.

Camp Dodge, Ia.—Twenty-one deaths were reported from Spanish influenza by the division surgeon general Monday morning. He also announced that out of 6,000 cases under observation 4,628 were diagnosed as Spanish influenza. The deaths brought the camp's total from the epidemic to thirty. The epidemic is at its most critical stage now and Lieut. Col. B. W. Rich announced there would be a decrease in deaths and number of cases. Among those reported dead were R. E. Emmerick, Joycoy, Colo.

Epidemic Gaining in Army Camps.

Washington.—Spanish influenza increased more rapidly during the twenty-four hours ending Oct. 6 at noon than in any similar period since the disease became epidemic. Reports to the office of the surgeon general of the army showed 17,383 new cases in army camps.

Six Die at Bliss of Influenza.

El Paso, Tex.—Six deaths occurred here and at Fort Bliss Saturday night from Spanish influenza.
